"A Rare Opportunity"

An Invitation to the Psychology of Religion

Raymond F. Paloutzian, Westmont College

"With this book the student is presented a rare opportunity—an 'invitation' to the psychology of religion. This book is not an apology for a particular faith or an effort to disenchant the faithful. Instead, it is an all too rare book—an objective, dispassionate look at religion in light of modern empirical psychology. . . . While not providing an exhaustive literature review, this invitation to the psychology of religion will provide the necessary empirical basis for advanced work in the area as well as providing a firm foundation for all those interested in what a modern empirical psychology of religion has to offer."—from the Foreword by Ralph W. Hood, Jr.

A brief, fluent, and readable introduction to central issues in the psychology of religion. Addresses such topics as the psychology of traditional and cult religions, the process of conversion, religious development, religion and social compassion, and personality and mental health in relation to religion. Available March 1983, © 1983, approx. 240 pages, illustrated, softbound

World Christian Encyclopedia

A Comparative Survey of Churches and Religion in the Modern World, A.D. 1900-2000

Edited by DAVID B. BARRETT, Research Officer, Church of the Province of Kenya and Anglican Consultative Council; G. DEROY, F. HOUTART, M.J. McVEIGH, and T.J. PADWICK, associate editors. "A tour of considerable force. . . a rich assortment of data on all the world's great faiths. . . sure to prove invaluable to churchmen and scholars everywhere." - Time. "Probably the most comprehensive array of facts and figures about all faiths throughout the world and also about the extent of non-belief." - Associated Press. "The most systematic and comprehensive survey ever undertaken of all the versions of Christianity in the world." - Christianity Today

1982 1,100 pp.; 1,500 illus.; 474 maps (24 in color) $95.00 ($125.00 after November 1, 1982)

The Religious Experience

A Social-Psychological Perspective

C. DANIEL BATSON, University of Kansas, and W. LARRY VENTIS, College of William and Mary. In the spirit of scientific investigation, this text applies the traditional methods of social psychology to the study of religion. The authors provide an integrated and coherent perspective which is scientifically sound but which recognizes the mystery and diversity of the religious experience.

1982 356 pp.; 5 illus. cloth $25.00 paper $11.95

Religion in Sociological Perspective

BRYAN WILSON, University of Oxford. In these essays, Wilson uses comparative sociological analysis to discuss religion's role in a secular society now dominated by technology. The author traces the relations of culture, morality, and religion in both Eastern and Western societies, and devotes a section each to modern sectarianism and the meaning of new religious movements.

1982 194 pp. cloth $13.95 paper $5.95

The English Churches in a Secular Society

Lambeth, 1870-1930

JEFFREY COX, University of Iowa. This book examines the shifting relationship between the church and the English people from 1870 to 1930. Drawing upon local church and chapel records, Cox constructs a new explanation of the decline of religion in England, and revises the theory of secularization, making it a more useful means of understanding the role of religion in a modern industrial society.
